Anthelio Healthcare Solutions Inc., the largest independent provider of technology and services to hospitals, physician practice groups and other healthcare providers, today announced the appointment of Jeff Robertson as CFO. In his new position, Jeff will be responsible for leading the company's financial and accounting operations on a global basis. Jeff succeeds Mark Falkenberg. Mark, who has chosen to pursue opportunities outside of Anthelio, will remain with the company through the end of August working closely with Jeff to ensure a seamless transition.

Jeff has over 32 years of experience in large and mid-size companies. Most recently, he was Senior VP at The Brock Group, where his responsibilities included managing and logistics for $350 million of assets. Jeff has also served as Senior VP and Chief Accounting Officer for Safety-Kleen, North America's largest provider of oil refining and recycling with revenues of over $1.3 billion. "Jeff's extensive background and record of driving business growth makes him a perfect fit for Anthelio, especially as the company is focused on emphasizing end-to-end productized technology solutions and new products for the healthcare industry," said Asif Ahmad, CEO, Anthelio Healthcare Solutions.

Jeff has extensive background and experience in senior financial management positions including accounting, auditing, tax, budgeting and consulting services. He has worked for Verizon Wireless, KPMG, and PWC. The breadth and scope of his experience including acquisitions, strategic planning, private equity ownership, system implementation, financial forecasting, cost reductions, budgeting and target setting, operation reporting, contract negotiations, process improvement and team building will be critical as we continue our focus on growing the business, promoting cost efficiencies and operational excellence.

"I am very excited about joining the Anthelio team. The company is well positioned and has made significant strides to address the healthcare industry needs. I am looking forward to contributing to the company's continued success," said Jeff Robertson, CFO, Anthelio Healthcare Solutions.

Jeff earned his BBA (Accounting) from Texas Tech University and is a Certified Public Accountant. In 2011, he was selected as Chief Accounting Officer of the Year by DCEO Magazine.

“These are exciting times at Anthelio as we are rebranding activities that focus on our principal mission of driving sustained value to our customers while revolutionizing today’s healthcare industry concerns,” said Ahmad. “Jeff will be instrumental in helping Anthelio pursue long term strategic growth opportunities and continue to improve our operating and financial efficiency. I am proud to have Jeff join our team,” said Ahmad.
