

EHR Selection & Implementation

Maximize Your EHR Investment with Anthelio's EHR Selection & Implementation Services

EHR system selection or replacement of your current EHR system is a complex and time consuming process. Usually a third party product vendor and hospital staff - both IT and/or non-IT drive the process, but this may not be the best scenario for the organization. Third party vendors are motivated to implement their own proprietary systems and hospital personnel have other critical priorities. Non-IT staff are busy supporting patient care, while those in IT are largely focused on keeping the organization's information systems up and running.

Often in this busy environment, factors that should play a key role in EHR selection namely patient care and business workflow processes are easily overlooked. Without a high emphasis on "process" as a part of the EHR selection, the benefits obtained by implementing a new EHR system can be greatly diminished.

ANTHELIO HAS THE SOLUTION!!

Our EHR Selection & Implementation Services empower healthcare organizations to maximize and protect their EHR investment while optimizing operational efficiencies, enhancing end-user adoption and supporting innovative use of EHR functionality. We partner and collaborate with our clients throughout the entire EHR selection/implementation process, from assessing current EHR features, functionality and clinical/business operation requirements to making the final vendor selection and implementing the new system. Our guidance and leadership throughout this complex process ensures the best possible outcome while freeing hospital staff to concentrate on patient care.

Anthelio's Comprehensive Four-Phase Approach To Support EHR System Selection

PHASE I

Assessing Current Operational/EHR System Alignment

This step-by-step process provides insight into three critical components of the EHR: people, process, and technology integration; current state of the EHR and operational workflow/processes; and the desired state including business requirements alignment to minimize current operational and system challenges.

PHASE II

Defining Future EHR Business Requirements and Vendor RFP Development for System Replacement

Using information derived from the assessment process, Anthelio recommends future business requirements and sets the foundation for the vendor evaluation process.

PHASE III

Initial RFP Response Review and Scoring

Anthelio's product selection specialists perform an in-depth, independent review of each vendor's response. Submissions are evaluated and scored based on business requirement alignment, pricing, features/functionality and references. Anthelio then provides a vendor results comparison matrix to enable the EHR selection team to choose the finalists.

PHASE IV

Vendor Finalists Demonstrations/Cost Benefits-Risk Analysis/ Final Selection

Anthelio facilitates vendor product demonstrations, customer site visits and reference checks of the final candidates. A cost benefit-risk analysis is provided to assist the client in making a final decision.
