

Anthelio Healthcare Solutions Will Showcase Innovative End-To-End IT Solutions At HIMSS16 Annual Conference & Exhibition, Booth #646

Anthelio will highlight their new RCM Analytics Genie, as well as industry-leading patient engagement and legacy archive solutions supporting IT and RCM services

Dallas, Texas, February 25, 2016 —Anthelio Healthcare Solutions, the largest independent provider of technology and services to hospitals, physician practice groups and other healthcare providers, will be displaying their full suite of end-to-end innovative IT products and services at the upcoming HIMSS16 Conference & Exhibition, Booth #646. The conference will be held February 29 - March 4, 2016, at the Sands Expo and Convention Center in Las Vegas, NV. Supported by a world class team, Anthelio offers comprehensive and integrated services between IT and Revenue Cycle Management. Anthelio's unique expertise in healthcare technology provides a full spectrum of patient care solutions that serves over 65,000 physicians and nurses in 500 healthcare organizations across 27 states.

"We are excited to once again have a strong presence at the HIMSS Conference," said Asif Ahmad, CEO, Anthelio Healthcare Solutions. "It gives us the opportunity to showcase our expanded capabilities gained through the acquisition of Pyramid Healthcare Solutions. The acquisition greatly enhanced our service Revenue Cycle Management portfolio strengthening our solutions that address the challenging core business processes healthcare providers face today," Ahmad explained.

In addition to exhibiting at the show, Anthelio will once again be hosting its popular Casino Night event during the conference at the luxurious Palms Casino Resort. Attendees are invited to this fun-filled evening to take in the amazing 360-degree view of the glittering Las Vegas skyline from the 55th floor while enjoying cocktails, food, music, and gaming. Attendees will also have an opportunity to enter a special drawing to win the latest innovation from Apple, an Apple Watch. The event is scheduled for Wednesday, March 2, 7:30 pm-9:30 pm.

Anthelio's full line of innovative solutions will be featured at the show, with live demonstrations of several of its industry-leading products, including Legacy Archive Solution (LAS) and Engage mobile application. LAS is a vendor-neutral aggregation and presentation tool that efficiently accesses, updates and analyzes legacy data. It offers many unique features not available on other archive products and represents a whole new cost-effective approach to managing retired data systems. Engage mobile app provides a 24/7 patient education and engagement platform for healthcare organizations while offering on-the-go capabilities to users. It is cost-effective and quick and easy for patients to access, bringing exciting new benefits and capabilities to the patient engagement landscape.

Anthelio will also be showcasing its new RCM Analytics Genie. Healthcare organizations will find the Revenue Cycle Optimization module especially useful, as it consolidates financial and patient data from various financial systems to provide real-time visibility and insights into the organization's accounts receivables. The web-based application combines dashboards, standard reports and ad hoc reporting capabilities into a powerful analytics solution, making it easier for organizations to monitor and manage their accounts receivables.

“Reimbursement denials continue to climb at a time when organizations desperately need to maximize every revenue opportunity,” Ahmad stated. “Our RCM Analytics Genie was designed specifically to address ways to increase the bottom line with powerful analytics that turn data into real-time actionable information, enabling providers to reduce revenue leakage, identify bottlenecks, manage reimbursement trends and increase staff productivity, maximizing net revenue and accelerating cash flow,” he noted.

Anthelio’s offerings include a wide range of flexible and cost-efficient IT solutions designed to maximize IT investments. The company has a history of performance excellence in the Service Desk arena, supporting over 100,000 users while handling 55,000 calls per month. Electronic health record needs can efficiently be met with Anthelio’s EHR and Optimization Solutions that focus on EHR implementation services, compliance, security and regulatory requirements. The company has deep domain expertise and a highly skilled certified staff to address today’s complex IT issues, providing IT outsourcing services that are unparalleled in the industry. With over 16 years in business, focused solely on the healthcare industry, Anthelio is an industry leader in innovative technology solutions and ranked by KLAS in IT Hosting Services (2013), as well as has earned a coveted spot on Healthcare Informatics 2015 Top 100 vendor list.
