

Anthelio Healthcare Solutions Earns Coveted Spot On Healthcare Informatics Annual 100 List

Dallas, Texas, August 20, 2015 - Anthelio Healthcare Solutions, the largest independent provider of healthcare technology and services, today announced it has been ranked on the 2015 Healthcare Informatics (HCI) 100 list, an annual compilation of the top 100 healthcare IT vendors. The list is based on Health Information Technology (HIT) U.S. revenues for each company for the most recent fiscal year. Healthcare Informatics has compiled and published this prestigious list for over two decades.

We are extremely proud to be named to the Healthcare Informatics 100 list," said Asif Ahmad, CEO, Anthelio Healthcare Solutions. "Our ongoing commitment to provide healthcare organizations with innovative IT solutions that provide sustainable value in an ever-changing market has allowed us to consistently be recognized as a leading health information technology company," he noted.

To develop the list, Healthcare Informatics editors collaborated with two leading research organizations, San Francisco-based ST Advisors, LLC, and Atlanta-based Porter Research, for revenue verification, research and analysis. The list, which is highly anticipated every year, is a unique reference tool utilized by IT professionals to help them gauge which technologies healthcare organizations are purchasing, as it provides an accurate view of where providers are spending their healthcare IT dollars.

Being named to the 2015 HCI 100 list comes just as Anthelio announced the acquisition of Pyramid Healthcare Solutions, a move which positions Anthelio to be the largest independent provider of health information management services and Revenue Cycle Management. Anthelio's cutting-edge, innovative services and products provide technology solutions to more than 500 healthcare organizations across the United States, impacting quality care to over 60 million patients. With over 15 years in business focused solely on the healthcare industry, Anthelio has gained a well-earned reputation as the industry leader in innovative technology solutions that support the delivery of quality patient care.

"Anthelio's recognition as an HCI 100 company is the direct result of the efforts of our dedicated, highly skilled employees who have a passion for excellence, as well as our loyal customers who have entrusted us to be their technology partner. We are extremely grateful to both of them for our ongoing growth and success," Ahmad concluded.
